Background

The Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act of 2020¹ recognizes a self-regulatory nonprofit organization, the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority, which is charged with developing proposed rules on a variety of subjects. Those proposed rules and later proposed rule modifications take effect only if approved by the Federal Trade Commission.² The proposed rules and rule modifications must be published in the Federal Register for public comment.³ Thereafter, the Commission has 60 days from the date of publication to approve or disapprove the proposed rule or rule modification.⁴

The Authority submitted to the Commission a proposed rule on Enforcement on December 20, 2021. The Office of the Secretary of the Commission determined that the proposal complied with the Commission's rule governing such submissions.⁵

Pursuant to Section 3053(a) of the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act of 2020 (the "Act") and Federal Trade Commission Rule § 1.142, notice is hereby given that, on December 20, 2021, the Horseracing Integrity and Safety Authority ("HISA" or the "Authority") filed with the Federal Trade Commission (the "Commission") the proposed Enforcement rule and supporting documentation as described in Items I, II, III, IV, and X below, which Items have been prepared by HISA. The Commission is publishing this notice to solicit comments on the proposed rule from interested persons.

I. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Background, Purpose of, and Statutory Basis for, the Proposed Rule

a. Background and Purpose

The Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act of 2020 ("Act") recognizes that the establishment of a national set of uniform standards for racetrack safety and medication control will enhance the safety and integrity of horseracing. As part of this endeavor, the Act, in 15 U.S.C. 3053(a), directs the Authority to develop proposed rules relating to "(8) a description of safety, performance, and anti-doping and medication control rule violations applicable to covered horses and covered persons; (9) a schedule of civil sanctions for violations; and (10) a process or procedures for disciplinary hearings."

With the review, input, and ultimate approval of the Authority's Board of Directors, the proposed rule: (1) Sets forth a set of violations in addition to those proposed separately in the Rule 2200 Series, previously filed on December 6, 2021; (2) puts in place a schedule of civil sanctions for use in conjunction with the violations; (3) creates hearing and appeal procedures for disciplinary and accreditation decisions; and (4) sets forth rules that define the investigatory powers available to the Authority.

b. Statutory Basis

The Horseracing Integrity and Safety Act of 2020, 15 U.S.C. 3051 through 3060.

II. Self-Regulatory Organization's Statement of the Terms of Substance of the Proposed Rule

The proposed rule submitted by the Authority, which is applicable to all covered horses, covered persons, and covered racetracks, would establish rule violations and civil sanctions, procedures for disciplinary and accreditation hearings, and provisions concerning the exercise of investigatory powers by the Authority. The proposed rules would ensure that the Authority's enforcement activities are conducted pursuant to a set of uniform standards. The Act provides that the uniform rules established under 15 U.S.C. 3057(d)(1) shall: "(A) take into account the unique aspects of horseracing; (B) be designed to ensure fair and transparent horseraces; and (C) deter safety, performance, and anti-doping and medication control rule violations." 15 U.S.C. 3057(d)(2).

Existing Standards

In developing the rules pertaining to violations, sanctions, hearing procedures, and investigatory powers, the Authority relied to a great extent upon the rules of horseracing in these subject areas as they currently exist in racing states. Additionally, rules in the various states incorporate many of the specific standards and protocols set forth in the Association of Racing Commissioners International's Model Rules of Racing ("ARCI Rules"). The ARCI "Model Rules" of racing and wagering are recognized worldwide as a standard for the independent and impartial regulation of horseracing as well as the conduct of pari-mutuel wagering. Relying upon the collective expertise of regulatory personnel in member jurisdictions in consultation with regulated entities, industry stakeholders, fans and individuals, ARCI committees regularly consider ways to improve and enhance the regulation of racing. In some racing states, the Model Rules have the force of law, as they have been adopted by reference statutorily or through regulatory rulemaking. In other states the Model Rules form the basis upon which rules are written, ensuring substantial uniformity in the regulation of the sport.

While state regulations vary in many details concerning medication control and safety provisions, the overall structure of the rules governing horseracing is consistent between and among the states. The rules of horseracing center around a number of common subject areas, including the licensing of racing associations and of individual participants in horseracing, medication control rules, pari-mutuel wagering rules, the operation of various incentive funds, rules concerning the running of the race, and rules establishing disciplinary measures and hearing procedures. The basic precepts of many of the rules pertaining to violations, sanctions, hearing procedures, and investigatory powers have been in force in racing states for many years, and the Authority has reviewed key provisions in numerous states in the course of developing the Rule 8000 Series.

The Authority has also examined rules promulgated by the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA"). FINRA regulates and investigates the activities of brokerage firms, and a review of some of the FINRA provisions related to sanctions and investigatory powers was beneficial in the development of HISA rules in these areas.

In sum, many of the rules set forth in this 8000 Series are derived from provisions with common features in many of the state and ARCI rules. The Authority reviewed these provisions and tailored them to the Authority's regulatory structure and goals. The process was one of analysis and incorporation of common existing standards, and did not to any significant extent require the rejection of alternate standards. In other words, for many aspects of the proposed rules, the Authority identified no reasonable alternatives to the consensus established in existing state laws.

The provisions of this Rule were made publicly available on the HISA website on November 22, 2021. Very few comments were received, but those that were received are addressed below. The ARCI Rules, several key state laws, and the FINRA provisions on which the Authority, as well as the few comments that the Authority received in its pre-submission comment-seeking process, are included in the supporting documentation available at <https://www.regulations.gov> under docket number FTC-2022-0009.

a. Rule 8100—Violations

The violations set forth in this section are drawn from similar provisions found in the ARCI Rules and the rules of many racing states. A number of the violations prohibit interfering with or obstructing investigatory or regulatory efforts conducted by Authority personnel. The violations also include attempts to conceal violations or to intimidate witnesses to violations or individuals who might report violations. Other provisions penalize the perpetration of a fraud concerning a Covered Horse and the failure to properly register with the Authority as required by rule. The prohibitions in Rule 8100 operate together with the Racetrack Safety Rules in the separately proposed Rule 2200 Series and future anti-doping and medication control rules to provide a comprehensive enforcement scheme that will enhance the safety and integrity of horseracing.⁶

The violations enumerated in this rule are tailored to the unique aspects of horseracing in that violations do arise in the sport and must be penalized. It is vital to penalize violations to ensure that horseraces are conducted in a fair and transparent manner, which gives participants and the betting public confidence in the integrity of the sport. The successful prosecution of violations requires the investigation of the circumstances surrounding an alleged violation. An investigation includes interviewing the person alleged to have committed the violation, the inspection of that person's books and records upon request by investigators, and interviewing other individuals who may have knowledge of the violation. The violation provisions in Section 8100 penalize conduct that inhibits the investigatory process; such conduct includes intimidating witnesses, failing to cooperate with an investigation, and failing to provide accurate information regarding an investigation. Successful and consistent prosecution of violations deters violations and ensures the integrity of the sport. The 8100 series also penalized Covered Persons and Racetracks who fail to remit fees as required under 15 U.S.C. 3052(f)(3), as funding of the Authority is a vital element in supporting the Authority's unique role in ensuring fair and transparent horseracing and deterring rule violations.

⁶ See generally 15 U.S.C. 3057(a)(2); 810 Ky. Admin. Reg. 3:020 ("Licensing of Racing Participants"), Section 15 ("License Denial, Revocation, and Suspension").

b. Rule 8200—Sanctions for Violations; Consent Decrees; Notice of Suspected or Actual Violation

The sanctions set forth in Rule 8200 apply to the Racetrack Safety rules set forth in the Rule 2200 Series and to the violations established in Rule 8100. Specifically exempted from the 8000 series are the rules under development by the Authority's Anti-Doping and Medication Committee. The rules pertaining to anti-doping and medication control violations are complex and specific to the unique aspects of medication control and will be set forth in that body of rules. Additionally, a second exemption in Rule 8200 makes clear that the sanctions in Rule 8200 do not apply to areas of regulatory activity that are not preempted by HISA; state regulations will continue to govern disciplinary action in these areas. By way of example, state regulations will continue to operate in the context of pari-mutuel wagering and the licensing by state racing commissions of individual participants in horseracing.

The sanctions provide the Authority with a broad range of options to apply in penalizing the violation of Authority rules. The sanctions range from the severe penalty of a lifetime ban from registration with the Authority to revocation or suspension of a Covered Person's registration, the imposition of specified fines, or the issuance of a cease and desist order. Rule 8200 further permits the Authority to require a Covered Person as a condition of participation in horseracing to take any remedial or other action that is consistent with the safety, welfare, and integrity of Covered Horses, Covered Persons, and Covered Horseraces.

The rule also includes a mechanism permitting the Authority to issue a Notice of Suspected or Actual Violation to a Covered Person in cases in which the Authority has reason to suspect that a Covered Person has violated or failed to comply with Authority rules. This mechanism requires the Authority to specify the nature of the suspected or actual violation and requires the Covered Person to respond to the Authority's notice. The Notice provision is intended in part to allow safety issues to be addressed without immediate resort to formal disciplinary action.⁷

⁷ See generally FINRA Rule 8310 ("Sanctions for Violation of the Rules"); 810 Ky. Admin. Reg. 8:030 ("Disciplinary Measures and Penalties"), Sections 9 ("Disciplinary Measures by Stewards and Judges") and 10 ("Disciplinary Measures by the Commission"); Minn. Admin. R. 7897.0120 ("Disciplinary Sanctions"); Minn. Admin. R. 7897.0130 ("Schedule of Fines").

The schedule of sanctions set forth in Rule 8200 provides the specific penalties that are the consequence of committing a rule violation in horseracing as conducted under the jurisdiction of the Authority. The schedule is tailored to the unique aspects of horseracing in that it imposes substantial fines upon Covered Persons. The imposition of fines is very common in the penalization of violations of horseracing rules. The sanctions also include forfeiture of purse, disqualification of horses, and changes to the order of finish in horse races, which are penalties unique to horseracing. Various other provisions can result in temporary or permanent revocation of registration with the Authority; registration is required to participate in horseracing. Additionally, racetracks can be prohibited from conducting horseraces upon a finding that a racetrack safety violation has been committed.

The sanctions established under Rule 8200 work in conjunction with the violations set forth in Rule 8100 to ensure that violations are properly and consistently penalized. This deters future violations and ensures that racing participants and the betting public have confidence that horseracing is conducted in a fair and transparent manner. The Consent Decree provision is included to allow the Authority to enter into agreements with Covered Persons that will ensure that Covered Persons take actions as needed to ensure that horseracing is conducted in a fair and transparent manner consistent with preserving the integrity of the sport. Similarly, the Notice of Suspected or Actual Violation allows the Authority to identify potential or actual violations and to ensure that Covered Persons cooperate with the Authority in taking any remedial action necessary to protect the integrity of horseracing.

c. Rule 8300 et seq.—Disciplinary Hearings and Accreditation Procedures

The disciplinary procedures established in the Rule 8300 Series apply to Safety Violations in the Rule 2200 Series as well as the violations set forth in Rule 8100. Rule 8310 specifies that anti-doping and medication control rule violations are to be adjudicated in accordance with the specialized procedures within the medication rules. In tandem with Rule 8200, the disciplinary proceedings do not apply to areas of regulatory activity that are not preempted by HISA.

Rule 8320 provides a procedure pertaining to the appeal of violations. The rule specifies that stewards' rulings penalizing violation of the prohibitions relating to riding crops, shock wave therapy, and electrical or mechanical devices are appealable to the Board of the Authority. All other rule violations of the safety rules in Rule 2200 Series are referred by the Racing Safety Committee to one of four adjudicative bodies, depending upon the seriousness of the alleged violation and the facts of the case; the Racetrack Safety Committee may conduct the initial appeal hearing itself, or it may refer the case to the state stewards, or to either the National Stewards Panel or the Arbitral Body to be established under anti-doping and medication control rules. Under this procedure, the Racetrack Safety Committee, having knowledge and expertise concerning matters of racetrack safety, will direct the case to the adjudicator best suited to decide the case.

In a parallel manner, the Board of the Authority will refer the appeal of violations of the prohibitions in Rule 8100 either to the Board itself for a hearing, to the state stewards, or to either the National Stewards Panel or the Arbitral Body to be established under anti-doping and medication control rules.

Rule 8340 sets forth notice requirements and hearing procedures to guide the adjudication of hearings before the Board of the Authority or the Racetrack Safety Committee in appeals under Rules 8320 and 8330 in those instances when the Board or the Committee refer matters to themselves for a hearing (the hearings referrals are described as "initial hearings" in Rule 8340). In the case of an initial hearing before the Board, the Board will appoint a panel of three Board members to adjudicate at the hearing. Rule 8340 establishes the procedures for the hearings.

Rule 8350 sets forth procedures for the appeal to the Board of any decision rendered by the Racetrack Safety Committee, the state stewards, the National Stewards Panel, or an Arbitral Body. Additionally, in those instances in which a panel of the Board conducts the initial hearing, the procedures prohibit the members of the panel from participating in consideration of the appeal before the full Board. Rule 8350 establishes the procedures and standards of review to be provided upon appeal.

Rule 8360 establishes procedures appeals from any decision rendered by the Authority denying or revoking racetrack accreditation. The procedures provide that any revocation of accreditation be stayed, pending the Authority's review of the case. The Authority may permit the racetrack to make a presentation, if requested by the racetrack. One commenter suggested creating a timeframe for the request and presentation, but the Authority prefers to avoid rigid timeframes in this context. The Authority may also request additional information from any source concerning the review of the case. After considering factors enumerated in the Rule concerning the nature of deficiencies in racetrack operations, the Authority may then deny or revoke accreditation upon a two-thirds vote of a quorum of the Authority members present; alternatively, the Authority may reinstate accreditation subject to any requirements deemed necessary by the Authority to ensure that horseracing at the racetrack is conducted in a safe manner. The process in Rule 8360 is designed to provide the racetrack and the Authority the opportunity and flexibility to remedy racetrack deficiencies and ensure that horseracing is conducted safely.

Finally, Rule 8370 makes clear that decisions rendered by the Authority under Rules 8350 and 8360 constitute final civil sanctions within the meaning of 15 U.S.C. 3058, and are therefore subject to appeal and review by the Commission pursuant to the statute.⁸

It is vital to penalize violations of the rules of horseracing to ensure that horseraces are conducted in a fair and transparent manner, which gives participants and the betting public confidence in the integrity of the sport. In accordance with principles of due process, persons alleged to have committed violations are entitled to a fair hearing at which they may have the opportunity to present evidence in defense of a charged violation. The provisions set forth in the Rule 8300 Series establish the rules and parameters of the hearing process. These provisions also provide for appeals to the Authority to review any decisions rendered against a Covered Person who is charged with a violation. These provisions are keyed to the unique organizational structure of the Authority. The hearing process is necessary to ensure that the penalties imposed upon Covered Persons are based upon a legitimate legal process that comports with the principles of due process. This ensures that violations are consistently and fairly penalized, which in turn deters future violations, and maintains the integrity and conduct of fair and transparent horseraces.

The Rule 8300 Series also establishes procedures for hearings to adjudicate the denial or revocation of racetrack accreditation in those instances in which racetracks are alleged to have committed violations of the Racetrack Safety rules. Racetrack safety is of course unique to horseracing and is essential to ensure that horseracing is conducted safely and in a fair and transparent manner.

4. Rule 8400—Investigatory Powers

The provisions set forth in Rule 8400 are common to the rules of many racing states and the ARCI rules of horseracing. These provisions establish the Authority's power of access to records and places of business used in connection with Covered Horses and authorize the seizure of medications or other items that are in violation or suspected violation of Authority rules. The rules require Covered Persons to cooperate with the Authority in investigations, and they include the duty to respond truthfully to questions posed by investigators about a racing matter. Rule 8400 also authorizes the issuance of subpoenas and oaths to witnesses. All these provisions will serve to enhance the integrity of horseracing by ensuring the effective enforcement of Authority rules.⁹

As stated previously, it is vital to penalize violations of the rules of horseracing to ensure that horseraces are conducted in a fair and transparent manner, which gives participants and the betting public confidence in the integrity of the sport. The successful prosecution of violations requires the investigation of all the circumstances surrounding an alleged violation. Central to any investigation is the power to gain access to the books, records, and premises of persons believed to have committed a violation; to subpoena witnesses; and to take testimony under oath of any person with knowledge of the circumstances regarding a violation. Rule 8400 specifically confers these powers upon the Authority and penalizes any obstruction or failure to comply with the investigatory powers set forth in the section.

III. Self-Regulatory Organization's Summary of Comments

As encouraged by the Commission's procedural rule, beginning in November 2021, prior to finalization of the submissions by the Authority to the Commission, a draft of the proposed Enforcement rule was made available to the public for review and comment on the HISA website, <https://www.hisaregs.org/>. Five comments upon the 8000 series were received. These comments were posted on the HISA Regulations Publication website at <https://www.hisaregs.org/>.

IV. Self-Regulatory Organization's Responses to Comments and Discussion of Alternatives

The following is a description of the primary subjects that received comments and the manner in which the Authority addressed those comments in developing the proposed rule submitted to the Commission, as well as the reasonable alternatives the Authority considered alongside the option ultimately proposed.

As previously mentioned, because of the relative uniformity of state approaches to defining violations, imposing sanctions, establishing hearing procedures, and providing investigatory powers, informed heavily by the ARCI Model Rules, the Authority did not identify reasonable alternatives to many of the aspects of its proposed Enforcement rule. The absence of reasonable alternatives to many aspects of Enforcement was underscored by the paucity of public comments on the proposed rule compared to the plethora of comments the Authority has received on Racetrack Safety (proposed on December 6, 2021) and Anti-Doping (yet to be proposed but under development). Most aspects of the proposed Enforcement rule received no comments, including Rule 8100 and Rule 8400.

Rule 8200 Comments

One commenter inquired whether Continuing Education courses will be required in this context. Rule 2182, previously proposed to the Commission, does establish Continuing Education requirements. Rule 8200 further provides that the Authority may enter into a consent decree or similar agreement with a Covered Person to enhance the safety and integrity of horseracing under the Act. Such a decree might require a trainer to adopt improved practices to ensure proper care for horses or might similarly require a racetrack to upgrade its facilities to enhance the safety of horseracing conducted at the track.

One commenter asked whether a consent decree "process" has been developed. The rule allows the Authority to enter into a consent decree, ⁹ See generally FINRA Rule 8210 (a) ("Provision of Information and Testimony and Inspection and Copying of Books"); Ky. Rev. Stat. 230.260(12) ("Authority of Kentucky Horse Racing Commission"); Minn. Stat. 240.21 ("Right of Inspection").

though the process for doing so is not strictly defined, to allow for flexibility in developing decrees.

Rule 8300 et seq. Comments

One commenter suggested deleting Rule 8320, though without offering a reason; the Authority believes the Rule will operate to enhance the effective enforcement of racing safety and integrity.

One commenter suggested creating a timeframe for the request and presentation under Rule 8360, but the Authority prefers to avoid rigid timeframes in this context.

V. Legal Authority

The rule is proposed by the Authority for approval or disapproval by the Commission under 15 U.S.C. 3053(c)(1).

VI. Effective Date

If approved by the Commission, the proposed rule will take effect July 1, 2022.

VII. Request for Comments

Members of the public are invited to comment on the Authority's proposed rule. The Commission requests that factual data on which the comments are based be submitted with the comments. The supporting documentation referred to in the Authority's filing, as well as the written comments it received before submitting the proposed rule to the Commission, are available for public inspection at www.regulations.gov under docket number FTC-2022-0009.

The Commission seeks comments that address the decisional criteria provided by the Act. The Act gives the Commission two criteria against which to measure proposed rules and rule modifications: "The Commission shall approve a proposed rule or modification if the Commission finds that the proposed rule or modification is consistent with—(A) this chapter; and (B) applicable rules approved by the Commission."¹⁰ In other words, the Commission will evaluate the proposed rule for its consistency with the specific requirements, factors, standards, or considerations in the text of the Act as well as the Commission's procedural rule.

Although the Commission must approve the proposed rule if the Commission finds that the proposed rule is consistent with the Act and the Commission's procedural rule, the Commission may consider broader questions about the health and safety of horses or the integrity of horseraces and wagering on horseraces in another context: "The Commission may adopt an interim final rule, to take effect immediately, . . . if the Commission finds that such a rule is necessary to protect—(1) the health and safety of covered horses; or (2) the integrity of covered horseraces and wagering on those horseraces."¹¹ The Commission may exercise its power to issue an interim final rule on its own initiative or in response to a petition from a member from the public. If members of the public wish to provide comments to the Commission that bear on protecting the health and safety of horses or the integrity of horseraces and wagering on horseraces but do not discuss whether HISA's proposed rule on Enforcement is consistent with the Act or the applicable rules, they should not submit a comment here. Instead, they are encouraged to submit a petition requesting that the Commission issue an interim final rule addressing the subject of interest. The petition must meet all the criteria established in the Rules of Practice (Part 1, Subpart D);¹² if it does, the petition will be published in the Federal Register for public comment. In particular, the petition for an interim final rule must "identify the problem the requested action is intended to address and explain why the requested action is necessary to address the problem."¹³ As relevant here, the petition should provide sufficient information for the public to comment on, and for the Commission to find, that the requested interim final rule is "necessary to protect—(1) the health and safety of covered horses; or (2) the integrity of covered horseraces and wagering on those horseraces."¹⁴
